Gameplay Programmer

Division: ZeniMax Online Studios | Department: Programming | Location: Hunt Valley , MD, US

Founded in 2007, ZeniMax Online Studios is the developer behind the hit online RPG The Elder Scrolls Online.

Based in Hunt Valley, Maryland, the team is hard at work developing new, compelling content and DLCs for The Elder Scrolls Online in addition to currently unannounced projects. The studio continues to grow and is hiring for multiple roles.

ZeniMax Online Studios is looking for a Gameplay Programmer to implement and maintain game systems across our client/server architecture. This position will impact several aspects of the game (game systems, resource management, graphics, and optimization) and will work closely with designers and artists in order to provide a great user experience.

Responsibilities:

- Design and architect new game systems
- Refine systems throughout the development cycle of the project
- Optimize code to improve CPU utilization and reduce memory footprint
- Collaborate with designers, artists, and other engineers for feature development

Requirements:

- 4+ years of software development experience
- Proficient in C++
- Solid architecture, system design, and analytical skills
- Excellent 3D math skills
- Strong communication skills
- Ability to write clear, maintainable, portable code

Desired Skills:

- Experience developing for multiple platforms (Windows, OSX, PS4, Xbox One)
- Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science or equivalent experience
- Experience with network game client/server architecture
- Familiarity with rendering techniques, shader development, and graphics APIs
- Experience with multi-threaded programming
- Strong debugging skills
- MMO development experience
